FRIDAY, JULY 9, 1886.

The Cabinet has decided to locate the police barracks at Prince Albert. The building will contain accommodation for a full troop and the construction will commence this summer.

The Canadian exhibit at the Colonial exhibition is attracting much attention in England. The newspapers are making much of it, and it seems to be quite a revelation to the average Britisher.

The G. O. M. compares himself and his Scotch constituency to a chieftain old and gay with a young and bonny bride. Mr. Gladstone has lived long enough in this world to know that that is a dangerous alliance. The young and bonny bride is too apt to give the old man the shake.

The bill so amending the British North America Act as to permit the representation of the Northwest Territories in the Senate and the Commons has passed the Imperial Parliament and awaits the Royal assent. With the passage of this measure the Act of the Dominion Parliament, with the same object in view, becomes law.

The twenty-four hour system went into force on the Canadian Pacific Railroad on the 27th ult., and will doubtless soon be brought into everyday use by the public in general. The new system comes a little awkward at first, but will soon make its way, owing to its manifest advantages. Had the time been measured in this manner from the first, an attempt at introducing a.m. and p.m. would have been stoutly resisted.

Ottawa is legislating against the Salvation army. If Ottawa desires to get rid of the Salvationists she goes the wrong way about it. There is nothing a Salvationist so dearly loves as "persecution." Persecution will make almost anything successful, and it invariably favors a religious sect. If Ottawa desires to be without Salvation, of the army sort, all she has to do is to let the Salvationists religiously alone.

The great interest taken in the Colonial Exhibition has suggested the desirability of establishing in London a permanent museum, containing articles characteristic of each colony. India has consented to contribute to such a project, and it is possible that the colonies may join. Something in the nature of a permanent exhibition would popularize the colonies in England, and would tend to direct the attention of intending emigrants to British fields for settlement.

Negotiations for a transfer of the Stanstead, Shefford and Chambly, Waterloo and Magog, Missisquoi and Black River Valley and International railway of Maine to the Atlantic and Northwest railway, which virtually belongs to the Canadian Pacific, has been consummated. A special general meeting of shareholders has been called to authorize the assumption of the contract made with the Government by the International railway of Canada for the construction in part of the railway connecting Montreal with the ports of St. John and Halifax.

The Canadian-American has been studying Halifax and the Nova Scotia political field from the Chicago point of observation, and this is what it makes out of it: Some Halifaxians are quite earnest in asserting that confederation is injuring their province and keeping their city down. Put Nova Scotia outside the Dominion and Halifax would not have much of a future before it. As a Canadian city it will be the terminus of the Canadian Pacific; as a Nova Scotia town located in a colony surrounded by countries with hostile tariffs it would very soon drop into obscurity. And annexation to the United States would simply result in transferring a good portion of the trade of Halifax to Portland and Boston. Halifax can only grow into prominence as a Canadian city.

HUDSON'S BAY RAILWAY.

The following is from a paper by Mr. W. Shefford who passed over the route last year: "And here it may be well to consider why such facilities should be offered by the Canadian authorities to bring about the rapid completion of this important work. Fortunately, the cause is not far to seek. The fertile Northwest, with all its advantages, has one disadvantage in being more remote than the rest of Canada from the Atlantic seaboard. Many intending settlers are thus detained, and induced to settle in the eastern provinces. The communication with the mother country is less direct, and the cost of transport is greatly enhanced by a continuous railway journey of some 1,800 miles after reaching the port of Montreal. Although travelling is made comfortable and cheap, the first-class fare being only about one penny per mile, it is sufficiently tedious and expensive to deter a new arrival from going farther west, especially when the more favored inhabitants of the east are offering him their best inducements to settle with them; and for goods traffic, however good the road and economical the working of it, the cost of carriage by land must always greatly exceed that by sea, to say nothing of the fatigue and consequent shrinkage and loss of cattle in long railway journeys.

RETURNING REASON

A report was put in circulation to the effect that the Dominion Government had withdrawn from its position with regard to the fishery question, and that it had issued a circular to collectors of customs instructing them to refrain from enforcing the provisions of the treaty of 1818. It turns out that this report was in no way warranted by facts. The circular really issued merely defined the duties of collectors, and left the cruisers to continue making seizures of foreign vessels found within the three-mile limit.

It is now stated on good authority that the only rumored change of base on the fishery question which has any foundation in fact has been made by the Yankee fishermen, whose views are said to be drifting in the direction of a new treaty. According to the Halifax Herald, Captain Blake, a prominent Gloucester fisherman, admits frankly that Canadian waters are absolutely essential to the success of the American fisheries, and says he is willing to give Canadians free markets in return for free fishing in Canadian waters. New England fishermen generally, he adds, are sick of the present state of affairs and now want a treaty. He says Canadians should pay but little attention to what American papers say to the contrary, especially the sensational ones, for the fact is American fishermen must have a treaty at any price. He declares further that there are now fourteen seiners laid up in Boston, unable to obtain crews. Captain John Chisholm, master of another American vessel, holds the same opinions, and says "the three-mile limit is a killer." The press, too—sensational papers excepted—is beginning to comprehend the situation. The Bedford Times, for example, says the Canadians, so far, have done nothing more than to assert their rights, and it adds: "if our fishermen desire to use Canadian fisheries—and it is very evident that they do—there must be a new treaty, and the sooner the better." There are other evidences of returning reason south of the line.

The firm stand taken by the Dominion Government has evidently had a most desirable effect. Should no new complications arise it is not improbable that a new and satisfactory treaty may ere long be negotiated. But it has been well said that if the Gloucester fishermen really want to come to terms they should call off their sensational politicians, such as Mr. Blaine, whose excess of zeal in the wrong direction is creating ill-feeling and doing no good.—Montreban.

Star Blanket, one of the rebellion prisoners, has been released from Stony Mountain by order of the Government. The Indian hailed from Battleford, and was a leading disaffected spirit in that district.

One hundred and ninety-two boys from Dr. Bernardo's Home, London, arrived at Quebec by the steamship Lake Superior. They are bound for the Northwest. The same vessel also brought 130 boys and girls from Middlemore Home, Birmingham. These are for Ontario and the Northwest.

Ex-mayor Beaudry, of Montreal, is dead. He made himself conspicuous while mayor in 1877 by refusing to grant protection to the Orangemen to walk on the 12th of July, on the ground that their society was illegal, and a year later, to prevent their parading, he caused the arrest of several of their leaders. He occupied the civic chair for nine years. Deceased was a member of the Legislative Council of Quebec since 1867.

PUBLIC MEETING.

A public meeting of the ratepayers of Prince Albert Public School was held in the school house on Friday evening last, for the purpose of considering the best steps to be taken regarding the erection of a school house. There was a good attendance of ratepayers present. At 8 o'clock the chair was taken by Mr. John A. McDonald, Chairman of the School Board. Mr. McDonald explained that the building now used was owned by the Methodist body, and that it was entirely too small to accommodate the large number of children now attending. He then called for the views of others present. Messrs. Sifton, Stewart, Campbell, Clark, McArthur, Newlands, Hughes, T. E. Baker, Sinclair and others, all being in favor of steps being taken for the erection of a school house during the present year.

The following resolution was unanimously carried:

"That it is the opinion of this meeting of the ratepayers of Prince Albert it is expedient to build a brick school house at a cost not exceeding $5,000." It was also decided to procure a site centrally located and to contain not less than one acre of ground.

We think that the erection of a school building that will accommodate our increasing school population is a matter of great importance to the citizens of Prince Albert, and we hope that the erection of a school house will be immediately proceeded with, and that before the close of the year we may have suitable and adequate school accommodation. We hope that a good site may be secured, and as near the present one as possible.

DOMINION DAY.

Thursday last, the anniversary of the birthday of our Dominion, was generally observed as a holiday in the town and throughout the neighboring district. At an early hour in the morning the P.A.C. Band turned out and serenaded the town, furnishing some excellent and suitable music for a few hours. At ten o'clock a cricket match was commenced between the Prince Albert and Argyle Cricket Clubs, in which considerable interest was centered. The game resulted in an easy victory for the Argyles who had but one run to make in their second innings to win the game. The Argyles deserve great credit for their pluck - playing match after match - this game being the first they have won. At the ranges the crack of the rifle could be heard from early morning till dark in the evening, the members of the Association taking advantage of the holiday for a good practice preparatory to their annual match, which commences on the 15th inst. Besides these, several private picnics were held at different points, all of which, we understand, everybody enjoyed them selves thoroughly. Taken altogether, the people of Prince Albert passed a very enjoyable holiday, and the majority of them retired to rest at an early hour, glad of the opportunity to rest their wearied limbs.

CRICKET.

A cricket match was played on Dominion Day, between the Mission and Argyle clubs, on the ground of the former, which resulted in a win for the Argyles by ten wickets. For the Mission club the bowling of Agnew and the batting of Sprout was excellent, the same can also be said of the bowling of Bird and batting of Bird and St. John, for the Argyles. The Mission club entertained the Argyles to dinner at Mr. Owen's restaurant. Appended is the score:

THE WIMBLETON MEETING.

The rifle meeting at Wimbleton this year will possess an additional feature of interest in that there will be present three colonial teams, the Indian and Australian volunteers, as well as those of Canada, sending representatives to participate in the matches. For their benefit arrangements have been set on foot to get up a special competition open only to the Colonial forces. Outside the pleasurable feelings caused by meeting those representatives of the volunteer forces of other British possessions, the Canadians will have reason to regret the advent of their new competitors with gratification. Pitted against the pick of the riflemen of the United Kingdom they were of course, at a disadvantage. Naturally the largest population would possess the greatest number of good shots, and in matches where the teams were small, their rivals might easily depend on carrying off the trophy. With the Indians or Australians, on the contrary, they will enter the field on more even terms, and should, barring unforeseen conditions, come out victorious. The presence of these additional teams will add new zest to the meeting, and as bringing together in friendly competition representatives of widely separated sections of the empire, will aid in the augmentation of that spirit of brotherhood that has been evinced in increasing degree of late years. Canadian riflemen, and those who take an interest in their affairs, will hope not only that these new claimants will continue to send teams to the annual meetings at Wimbleton but that their example may be followed by other colonies as well.

GENERAL NEWS.

The American ship Frank Pendleton, Capt. Nicola, from San Francisco, has arrived at Queenstown. She has on board the mate of the British bark Arklow, Capt. Pyre, from Manila for Montreal. The Arklow was in collision with an unknown vessel and was cut to the water edge. The captain, his wife and child and ten seamen took to the life boats. The mate put off alone in a small open boat. It is feared that the occupants of the life boat were lost.

Hydrophobia has broken out in Yankton, Dak., amongst the cattle, horses, hogs and dogs. It is estimated that there are 50 cases of rabies in and about Gayville, Meckburg and Vermillion, and stock is dying at a rapid rate in all the agencies of Hydrophobia. Mad dogs are running wild through the county, and everybody is on the watch for them with their guns. The board of health has ordered all dogs in the county to be muzzled or shot. Twenty dogs were killed yesterday in the eastern part of the county. One child was bitten near Vermillion.

Mount Etna has ceased its eruptive demonstrations, the flow of lava has stopped and the people around the base of the mountain have returned to their homes. A new crater has been opened by the recent eruption which it is proposed to call "Dumet" after the present archbishop of that name. Heavy rumblings are still heard in the bowels of the mountain, but the seismic wave is believed to have passed off under the sea and is now being felt in the Indian Ocean.

WINNIPEG, July 2. The first through train for the Pacific consisting of eight cars passed 4 o'clock this city yesterday, and was met at the depot by the Mayor and Council and all the military organizations in the city and an immense concourse of people.

On the arrival of the train amid the shouting of locomotive whistles, a salute was fired by the battery and infantry. An address was read from the Council, to which Supt. Egan replied. The general celebration was a success, though the attendance of strangers was not so large as expected.

In the first heat in the professional race Gaudin defeated Hagan.

The young men's Liberal Convention closed proceedings.

The Montreal conference question of Canadian Independence was postponed until next year, various resolutions respecting provincial rights were carried, including Manitoba's claims for provincial lands and the right to charter railroads.

In the English elections now in progress, thus far sixteen Tory candidates, seven Unionists, eight Liberals and two Free-traders have been returned.

Another Yankee fishing schooner has been seized in Canadian waters.

The Red-Bellied Clams Commissioners are in the city. They have a number of merchants' cases to dispose of here before leaving for Ottawa.

The Prince Edward Island elections resulted in the return of the present Conservative Ministry.

The Dominion Government declined to establish an experimental farm at Prince Albert.

WINNIPEG, July 6. The Hon. T. H. White will arrive tomorrow on his second visit to the Northwest.

The Winnipeg celebration was brought to a conclusion on Saturday night. The principal event was the defeat of Hagan by Teasdale after a keen contest in which last time was decisive.

Hon. C. E. Hamilton has received the Conservative nomination for St. John's for the Local Legislature.

News of the progress of the through train from Omaha was received, and was to have arrived at Vancouver yesterday.

The British elections now stand: Tories 115, Unionists 95, Ministers 53. The Ministry is becoming more anxious. The Tories on Saturday gained seats in the following districts: Lincoln, Boston, Greenwich, Stamford, Salisbury, East Birmingham, Kidderminster, Ashton, Macclesfield and South Nottingham. In Scarborough the election went against the Ministerialists. There were many close contests, notably that at Ashton, where the mayor's casting vote decided the election and tremendous uproar.

Two more American schooners have been seized in Nova Scotia for violation of customs laws.

Sir John Macdonald, leader for the Pacific Coast about the middle of the month.

WINNIPEG, July 7. Fifteen hundred excursionists from Victoria, New Westminster, Nanaimo, Vancouver and other places gave an enthusiastic reception to the first through train over the C. P. R., which pulled into Port Moody promptly on time, 12 p.m., 135 hours from Montreal. Great enthusiasm was manifested by all, and as the train rolled into the depot, cheer upon cheer rent the air, and the band played patriotic music. A handsome banquet was presented to the first lady that stepped from the train. An address of welcome and congratulations was presented to Supt. Ayles by Premier Smith endorsed by a thousand excursionists from Victoria on the steamer Yosemite, and by Mayor Dickson of New Westminster, and Mayor McLean of Vancouver, and was suitably responded to by Mr. Alford. The excursionists and passengers then returned to Victoria on the Yosemite, having witnessed the long haul of the first train.

The resignation of Major Crozier as Assistant Commissioner of the Mounted Police has been accepted, and notice to that effect will appear in the next issue. In consequence of the resignation, Inspector Atkinson will receive the superintendency, and Sergeant Major Wilson the Inspectorship.

John Sutherland has been nominated as the Liberal candidate for Kildonan.

The last hopes of the Gladstonian vote in the counties have failed. The English counties are going Unionist, the counties of Somerset, Warwick, Hertford, Derby, Durham and Shropshire, in which centers the agricultural vote, have returned Conservatives. Scotland continues Gladstonian. A number of county polls have not yet been taken, but it is impossible to reverse the defeat of the Government. The Unionists are confident of an anti-Unionist strength of 350 against 250. The Conservatives are certain that with a sweeping plurality of 200 members, Lord Salisbury will form a purely Conservative Ministry. The number of the Unionist's gain at midnight was 29. The latest totals are 240 Tories, 17 Unionists, 119 Liberals, 75 Partisans. The Full Staff Gazette comments on an early edition on the returns says: "The Gladstonian defeat is now generating intra-party storms; it has shaken the prophecies of a catastrophe."

The following places were destroyed by fire in Stratford, Ont., the losses and insurance not obtainable: Wm. Fitzgerald, boots and shoes, A. T. Stewart, harnessmaker, H. J. McCreary, butcher, J. J. Waley, fish dealer. Several stables and sheds were also burned.

Col. J. H. of the 4th Hussars, and Col. D. of the 1st Hussars, of the Royal Horse Artillery, are stationed at their staff, arrived at Montreal as commissioners appointed by the Imperial Government to make large purchases of horses for cavalry and artillery. They are allowed £100 for each horse, including freight and insurance. They will probably purchase about three hundred animals. They are also to report on the capabilities of the Dominion as a source of supply in case of war, to inspect the Canadian Pacific Railway, and to report as to the progress of military route to the east. The road, they say, is attracting great interest on the other side, and will doubtless be utilized by the Imperial Government.
